Six Major Organizations Prepare For Annual Tea

On October 14, 1958, the six major organizations, here at Madison, will hold their annual tea for all new students.

When they arrive, the guests will be greeted by the officers of the six major organizations and their sponsors.

The social committee, which serves as an advisory group to various student organizations in the arrangement of all social activities, is sponsoring the tea.

Beth Morris is chairman of the committee and working with her are representatives from each class. These girls were elected to the office before school adjourned last spring.

This committee, a minor office in the Student Government Association, sponsors social functions independent of student organizations.

This tea will be held in Wayland Reception Room on Tuesday afternoon from 3:30 p.m., until 5:30 p.m. All Freshmen and transfer students are requested to attend for here is an opportunity for you to meet the students that lead in your campus activities.

Alpha Rho Delta Chooses Theme

"The Classical Contributions to Modern Society" will be the 1958-59 theme of Alpha Rho Delta, the fine arts club of Madison College.

Speakers from the English, art, and science departments will present their views on this theme. A panel of high school foreign language teachers will discuss cultural contributions of various countries and also methods of teaching a language. Slides and movies on classical and modern life will help carry out the theme. A trip will be planned to the University of Virginia where the members will meet professors and students interested in this field.

Alpha Rho Delta is also planning a Christmas party with Le Cercle Francois and El Club Espanol. These clubs will present games and songs in Latin, French, and Spanish. Members will exchange ideas on the culture of the countries where these languages originated. The annual picnic in May will climax the year.

Officers for 1958-59 are Jackie Jeffress, president; Sharon Isom, vice-president; Barbara Newby, secretary-treasurer. Mr. John Stewart is the advisor.

The purpose of this club is to create a better understanding and appreciation of the arts and promote a general interest in this field. Membership is by invitation and must be maintained in accordance with the constitution of the club. All Latin students and those interested in fine arts are invited to attend the first meeting on October 21.

Sororities Announce Rush Week Schedule

The time is rapidly approaching when the seven sororities on campus will invite to membership those girls whom they wish to have as their sorority sisters.

"Rush Week" officially begins when, on October 13, the rushees meet with the Panhellenic council. From October 14-22, open house will be held for the rushees at the respective houses. During this time, the rushees visit the houses to which they have been invited, getting to know all its members better.

Each sorority has a rush party one night during the week. At this time, the sorority tells those things which make up its functional environment. A special theme is carried out with decorations galore. Sorority girls may visit the houses between 6:30 and 7:30 to see decorations on the night of each party.

On October 22 at 10:00 p.m., "Silence" begins. During this time no rushee may talk to sorority girls. During this time, also, the rushee makes her choice of the sorority she wishes to join.

At 4:00 p.m. on Oct. 25, the rushees will walk from Wilson to the house of their choice. The rushee then becomes a pledge.

SCHEDULE FOR RUSH WEEK October

Schoolma'am Staff Begins Annual Work

Work has finally begun on Madison College's 50th annual yearbook, "The Schoolma'am."

Individual pictures for the yearbook will be taken sometime in November, and students are asked to watch for the announcements concerning the time group pictures will be taken.

Anne Chapman Tyler, editor of the Schoolma'am urges all students to cooperate with these editors. "This co-operation," she says, "is necessary to make this the best yearbook possible."

Honor Council Plans Orientation Classes

"Since Madison's Honor System will be more effective if every student understands it from the beginning of her college life, half-hour classes are scheduled for freshmen and transfer students October 13 and 14," Harriet Harnsberger, Honor Council President, recently announced.

These orientation classes will draw to a close as members of the Honor Council administer tests to the girls in each dorm on October 15.

Dr. Louis Locke of Madison's English Department will speak at the official honor pledging ceremonies in Wilson Auditorium October 16 at 6:30 p.m. Although the ceremony is especially for new students, Harriet emphasized the fact that everyone is invited.

Y.W.C.A. Selects Theme, Begins Membership Week

As Y.W.C.A. week approaches plans are being made that are hoped will be of interest to the student body. From left to right: Barbara Gouldthorpe and Sara Webb are busily preparing for the Candlelight service which marks the installation of members.

"Spirituality in the Space Age" has been chosen as the Young Women's Christian Association theme for the entire year. This theme is variational in that it can be used in the year's program of activities such as: Religious Emphasis Week, Friday Chapel and Sunday Vespers.

Membership Week for the Y.W.C.A. begins at the noon assembly, Wednesday, October 15. At this assembly an 8-scene skit will be given by members of the "Y" cabinet, portraying the major activities that are sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. throughout the year.

On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights, October 15-17, members of the "Y" Cabinet will visit the dorms, taking new members into the Y.W.C.A. and collecting pledges for the coming year. Freshmen dorm will be visited on Wednesday night

Students Elect Dorm Officers

During a few spare minutes in the past few weeks, the Freshman have somehow managed to elect their temporary dorm officers. Sheldon dorm has chosen Shelby Monroe as their President assisted by Paige Maupen and Dotty Compher. Spotswood dorm chose Fontaine Lloyd to lead them with Pat Manly and Jane Vainwright acting as the Vice-Presidents. Carol Robey is acting as President for Cleveland with the help of the Vice-Presidents, Jane Howard and Kay Gallash.

Johnston's temporary President is Haywood Lawson, the Vice-Presidents are Nancy Bretz and Pat Bigger. Holly Updyke acts as President for Jackson dorm assisted by Mildred Wenger and Doris Humphries. Ashby is headed by Jean Baum with Janie Jones and Judith Williams as acting Vice-Presidents.

Upper classmen in Logan have selected Jansie Setzer for their President and Jean Rhan, Kitty Rogers, and Martha McWilliams for Vice-Presidents. Gifford chose Jo Ann Edwards for President while Linda Harman, Nancy Brown, Jean Thomas and Nancy Close will act as Vice-Presidents. Pat Davies leads Wayland with her Vice-Presidents, Margaret Mauck, Lorraine Heiling, Peggy Frith, and Suzanne Cale. The girls of Converse chose Sara Sipe as their President assisted by Mittie Gay, Nahid Beijan and Connie McAfee.

Sorry, Mistake

In last week's article, Madison's Modern Dance Organization Spearheads Many Campus Programs, there was an unforeseen mistake due to the misunderstanding of information. Miss Hayna Holms is not a professor at Madison but she is a professional dancer and choreographer in New York City. Miss Gutchow studied under both her and Martha Graham.

at 10:30 p.m., and upperclass dorms and sorority houses on Thursday night, 10:30 p.m., and the Day Student's room on Friday.

Members of the "Y" Cabinet that will be visiting in the dorms will be Barbara Brenner, Carolyn Smith, Mary Lois Hardy, Ginny Moffett, Mary Tod, Barbara Bishop, Jo Artz, Shelby Davis, Nancy C. Moore, Mary Jackson, Joyce Fisher, Di Boelt, Jane Lynch, Shirley Jacobs, Nancy Close, Edie Shippis, Pat Davis, Martha Jones, and Kay Keatley.

The Candlelight Installation Service will be held Wednesday night, October 22, at 8:00 p.m. in Wilson Auditorium with special music provided. Following this service, all members of the Y.W.C.A. will go to the quadrangle where they will stand in a circle, holding lighted candles, as Clara Mincer plays taps. All members of the Y.W.C.A. are invited to attend the service and everyone is asked to wear white.

College Lyceum Series To Benefit Students

Madison College is sponsoring three Lyceum programs this year to benefit you, the students.

The first of this series will be held on Friday, October 24, 1958, featuring the National Symphony Orchestra conducted by Howard Mitchell. This will be their first appearance in two years, on Madison's campus; and they have just recently returned from a tour of Europe.

On Friday, February 13, 1959, the brilliant, young French pianist, Jean Casaskus will give a concert on the stage of Wilson Auditorium.

March 23, 1959, is the date of the last lyceum program for this season when Players Incorporated will present "Oedipus Rex." Upperclassmen will remember this same company brought us the delightful Shakespearean comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew" last year.

The students have already paid for their tickets; all they have to do is go. The committee does the best they can to bring, within their budget, the music and drama that will appeal to the students.

Athletic Association Sponsors Fun Night

Fun night, sponsored by the Athletic Association, will be held tomorrow evening immediately following the movie for the benefit of all girls who do not have a date for the Cotillion Club dance.

Ping Pong, badminton, and square dancing are a few of the activities which have been planned.

This program was originally scheduled for a Freshman fun night and was to have been held in Reed Gymnasium but due to the conflicting schedules of the two clubs, it will be held in Ashby recreation room and Reed swimming pool.

Attend Chapel

Do you ever feel so completely caught up in the hustle and bustle of campus activities that there seems to be no time for a brief pause and refreshing meditation?

There is such a time. The "Y" sponsors a Chapel program every Friday at twelve o'clock in Wilson Auditorium. The programs are varied, with interesting speakers, special music, and, sometimes, silent meditation. This is all provided for you, but do you take advantage of it?

Last Friday's program was a good one, but the attendance was poor. The few people who did attend sat scattered about the auditorium, making it difficult for the speaker to address them. There was, also, a noticeable amount of talking and laughter during the organ music prior to the speaker's address.

We realize that we are handicapped by not, as of yet, having our own Chapel in which to worship. However, until we can have our own Chapel, Wilson Auditorium must serve the purpose. When we enter those doors for our Friday Chapel services, it becomes a place of worship, and we should conduct ourselves accordingly.

Let's not overlook one of the most important sides of our college life—the Spiritual side. See you at Chapel! M.F.G.

See You On The Field?

Welcome new hockey coach! Yes, welcome and here is your team. Are you disappointed? You should be. There are only about twelve or so girls present consistently at practice. If this support continues, there is a possibility that Madison will do away with extramural hockey. The field of play is another place where Madison is represented, and ably so. It might do to add here that extramural sports at Madison are not organized just for physical education majors. Anyone that has the interest and ability may try her hand. If you cannot play you certainly should be able to cheer.

There are approximately 1300 girls on Madison's campus and not even 22, the minimum number for two squads, will participate in extramural hockey. Why? Is it the lack of that intangible, school spirit? How do the upperclassmen expect the freshmen to possess this important feeling if they themselves are so lacking? You people who are too busy or too this or too that to play with or to support your team will be the first to complain if Madison does not win her games. That is of course if Madison has enough players to put on the field. Perhaps I am mistaken. Perhaps you don't even have enough interest to bother.

Well, I have one thing to say—It is your school, your team, your coach, and those persons playing are your classmates. They not only represent hockey at Madison, but Madison itself and therefore they represent you. The players and the coach, Miss Soares, all deserve your respect and admiration. Look at them in awe as they have not let your lack of support discourage them. They will continue to represent Madison and YOU without faltering. You, as a member of the student body, do not deserve it by what you have done thus far.

If you are upset and outdone by this, then I have succeeded and I'll be looking for you either on the field of play or on the sidelines. E.E.A.

Wednesday Assembly

The average run of the mill Wednesday Assembly was laid aside this past week when Dr. Toller addressed the student body on the subject of school spirit. He brought to mind two main points in relation to his topic—(1) Whatever you do, do with enthusiasm. (2) The four years spent at college are "the best years of your life," make sure you spend them in a balanced way, your main goal being education.

The remainder of Dr. Toller's address was spiced with "humorous" remarks about any and everything here at Madison with several problems and personalities receiving special attention. Since then, many comments have been made concerning the unethical, "intended humor," used by the speaker. This was received in various ways. At first, all took it as humor in the true sense of the word.

As the address progressed, however, some began to feel that this crude type of humor was insulting to somewhat intelligent, mature minds. Resentment grew as Dr. Toller continued to comment on campus situations, which are common on all college campuses — and for which we are constantly seeking improvement. In some an uneasy feeling grew to a forceful rebellious feeling when leading personalities were continuously used as objects for prolonged tours of remarks which were thought to be unnecessary.

Some students became indignant, and small groups have been heard enthusiastically defending the food, the light situation, and individuals in responsible positions.

Is not the defense of one's school the beginning of school spirit?

Perhaps, then, Dr. Toller's address which was intended to inspire school spirit, achieved its purpose.

What's New In Stu-Gu

On Tuesday, September 30, Mrs. Ruth Jones Wilkins, Dean of Women, and Helen Warren, President of the Student Government Association, represented Madison College at a luncheon meeting of deans and student leaders from various schools throughout the state. The meeting was held at Holiday Inn, near Lynchburg, and twelve colleges were represented. Sweetbriar College served as hostess for the conference. Many common problems, projects, and purposes were discussed.

It was interesting to note that Madison was one of a very few colleges that does not place definite restrictions regarding hours, dress, and conduct of her students while on weekends at other colleges. This lack of definite restrictions shows the confidence that has been placed in us to uphold the standards of our college regardless of where we are. Have you ever thought that all your actions either reflect credit or discredit on our Alma Mater? Perhaps it would be well for each of us to stop and think, "Do I always conduct myself as is expected of a Madison College student?" The reputation of our whole college may be ruined by the actions of just a few. Remember a trust has been placed in us; let's live up to it in all our words and actions not only on campus, but also away from our campus. We represent Madison—let's represent her well.

School spirit cannot grow within us unless we are proud of our college; we cannot be proud of our college unless her reputation is without reproach; her reputation cannot be of such standing unless each of us acts in such a way that we reflect only credit and praise on our college. It is a never-ending circle—a circle revolving around you and your actions. Are you doing your part?

"It is assumed that a Madison student will, at all times and in all places, uphold high standards of conduct and appearance." (Handbook, p. 3)

October Twelve Hails Christopher Columbus

People in the world can't criticize the United States too much, because we started out as a mistake. Columbus sailed from Spain to find India, but his navigators got their stars crossed and they bumped into the Americas on the 12th of October. That day was to be the beginning of what we're not quite sure, but it was the beginning.

People do not pay much attention to Columbus Day. Except for a date in a history book it would be unknown. I advocate a "Hail Columbus" Day. I think we should be big enough to forgive him for one mistake. He didn't know that by setting foot on an island, way back in 1492, he would stir up a bee's nest.

Think of the things the world wouldn't have if Columbus hadn't been curious. Who can imagine a world without hot dogs, Yankee Stadium, hula hoops, Charlie Brown, and Madison College. Who would compete with Russia in seeing how many animals we can shoot into orbit. We are important, and we should give credit where credit is due.

Let's all get out our "I like Chris" buttons and show everyone we're proud that we live in a world where we can make mistakes that out live us.

Methodist Plan An Evening Of Fun With Well-Known Recreation Leader

Frank Vitale, a well-known recreation leader from the Arlington area, will be at the Wesley Foundation this Sunday to show with a program of recreation that fun and fellowship can constitute worship. Frank, who was an Electrical Engineer at V. P. I. last year has had much experience leading recreation for groups both large and small.

Last December he attended the 6th Quadrennial National Conference of the Methodist Student Movement at Lawrence, Kansas. For the past two years Frank has been a State M. S. M. officer; in 1957 he was president of the Eastern Regional; this year he has served as the state treasurer.

The evening promises to be both fun and informative, so every Methodist is invited and urged to attend. A group will leave Sheldon arch about 5:45 p.m. to walk down, so, no freshman need fear having to walk alone. Supper will be served at 6:00 p.m., and the program will follow immediately. On November 1-2 the Fall all-state conference will be held at V. P. I.

Be Still And Know

What must one do to be worthy of the love of God? Is it so difficult to be the person He desires? It should be the easiest thing in the world to evaluate ourselves, but somehow it is always the hardest. We can overlook faults of our own and find the very same fault in someone else. Being close to God each day in a period of quietness and reverence when one can listen and know that God is near is a good way to learn about ourselves.

IF

If you have learned to stand for truth and virtue
And possess the things a Madison girl desires,
If you overlook the faults in people
And see only in them the traits you can admire.

If your head is not turned by idle gossip
But you hold it high enough for girls to see
That you are reverent, loyal and a sportsman
And beauty rules your heart and keeps it free.

If you lend a helping hand to others
And expect not to receive one in return
But help others for the sake of helping
And sacrifice the things for which you yearn.

If you can smile and be cheerful
When a disappointment comes your way
And think not of yourself but of others
To whom life is cold and grey.

If you can turn to God each night
And face Him with a feeling of success
Because you have been that day all a girl should be
No more, but still no less.

And if in your heart you feel that you are living
To give the world nothing but your best
Then you are all that Madison wishes
And you are worthy of God's love and all the rest.

Taken from "IF"

Dear Pencil Pal . . .

Yes, I know my letters are getting shorter, so what? I have to budget my time. Most of it is devoted to being helpful. My roommate said I should; you know, she has a nice motto—Do unto others as you would have them do unto you ONLY Do It First. I guess she means you try to be nice first. I'm trying too. This very morning I woke everyone on my hall when the first bell rang. I still don't know why that girl in Room 123 threw a shoe at me.

Today we had a hula-hoop contest. They say it has something to do with "Stu-Gu." I guess it was important 'cause everybody was twisting and turning. I believe it was a frame up and some girl knew about it before me 'cause she won almost all the contests. She didn't even say "May I" either.

You must come to see me here at college. Maybe my roommate will like you as well as she does me.

Your Happy Friend

Just Me... Nick

Another week has passed and we find ourselves more engrossed in figuring out daily schedules that will allow us to do all our readings, study somewhat, and socialize for recreation. Although we often complain, we are bored when we find ourselves with an afternoon free and nothing to do. The morale seems to be "relax and enjoy yourself!" (of course, I don't believe we are wasting any time in that field.)

I sincerely hope most of you found the time to see at least some of the hula-hoop contest. It was surely something to see and the spirit and fun were instantly obvious. Laughter and applause could be heard beyond Harrison Hall and it was a welcomed sound.

The fact that it was a hula-hoop contest is unimportant. The important thing is that we were together enjoying ourselves and sharing our fun as a student body. Madison may never have another hula-hoop contest but it will continue to have students and other contests and activities that will need our support, interest and laughter. Much can be learned and shared when we let ourselves go enough to laugh together.

I hope you are finding something in each BREEZE that interests you. Something should be there to cause you to think, something should be found to inform you. If these are not found and if The BREEZE does not give each of the above to you then let us know, and we'll see what can be done, O. K.?

Just see ya—

Letter To Editor

An Open Letter to all interested in the Postal Service:

First I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks and appreciation to all students who have so generously and kindly offered help and suggestions. Your sincerity and willingness shall be cherished and remembered.

Now to explain a few facts that only people who have actually been on the inside, and not in the lobby would have knowledge of. Postal laws and regulations made by Uncle Sam in Washington, D. C. and not made by your College Postal Clerk, require postal employees to be 18 years of age or older and also be sworn in by the Postmaster downtown at the Main Office before they can come inside the office here.

About the increased student enrollment, I understand everything at Madison this season is increased except Postoffice space. Just think for a minute of an increased enrollment of only 50 people which perhaps would receive only 4 letters per day and send 4 letters per day, in one month's time 12,000 extra letters never before handled, have gone through in addition to the regular run of previous days.

Letters as you think of them only comprise First Class Mail. We also have newspapers and magazines, the 2nd Class Matter, plus circulars, etc. the 3rd Class, and parcels which is the 4th Class plus many more duties to perform. One day recently I made a tally whereby I handed to their owners 89 parcels. That alone would be one day's job for one person. We are giving between 11 and 12 hours time daily Monday through Saturday and from two to four hours Sundays. We are working all mail as fast as is humanly possible to do so, with the cramped quarters we have. We are striving for better service and hope you, our patrons now have a broader view of our circumstances and problems, and will continue to co-operate for the mutual benefit of all.

Thank You.

Madison Freshmen "Sound Off" Amidst Confusion Of New Life

by Sandie Hepp

There we were, standing on the doorstep of Madison College in a mad jumble of bags, boxes, and overstuffed suitcases, and as the last small glimpse of a familiar license plate disappeared we suddenly realized that we had finally arrived at the destination we'd so long anticipated. Now ours was the job of learning a new routine of living, and exchanging an old Alma Mater for a new. And we were all just a little bit shaky around the edges.

As we made the switch from "high-school rookies" to real college co-eds with no serious damage done, we soon found ourselves in step with life at Madison. We began to feel the spirit of a class, instead of just 450 scattered individuals, and it wasn't long before we proclaimed ourselves at lyceum programs, and other campus activities with a "minute-made" song for Freshmen to the tune of "Sound-Off."

The rules were a little disconcerting at first, but we soon learned to conform and even laugh at a few such as: Madison girls don't hang out the windows. And if the dietitians have noticed a slight decrease in the amount of food consumed, we suggest they cut their budgets because we've all decided to diet and take a slim twenty inch waist back home.

Studies, too, took their toll, and quiet hours became a creed. We tore at our hair, chewed on our pencils, and made frequent trips to the library in order to keep up with fast moving college professors. Before we knew it we were "Bonjuring" everyone in our own American-French, and digging out the knowledge we'd tucked away for the summer on equations,

Madison's Extramural Hockey Team Offers Sport For Physical Fitness

On Saturday, October the 4th, Madison's extramural hockey team was defeated by the Shenandoah Hockey Club. Shenandoah's goals were scored by Slusser (1), Owen (3), Gutchow (1), and Sorrenson (1). Both of Madison's tallies were scored in the first half by Joan Flora and Kay Merrell.

During the Fall, hockey sticks are as familiar a sight as books on campus, but not quite so hard to handle.

This was only a practice game as the regularly scheduled games will not begin until Monday, October 13. On this date the team will play Hollins at 4:30 p.m., here. The remaining schedule is as follows:

- October—
18—Longwood, away
23—Sophomore Physical Education majors
24—Bridgewater, home
31—Tournament at Sweetbriar
- November—
1—Tournament at Sweetbriar
8—Westhampton, home

Every human being needs some type of physical exercise not only to keep physically fit, but also to satisfy their need for relaxation. Hockey, which is a most invigorating sport, is an excellent way to get some exercise, and release any and all excess energy.

Remember: Be sure to come out and support the girls and cheer OUR team on to a successful, victorious season.

Hula-Hoop Contest Creates Excitement

During the past years the quadrangle has been the scene of many activities. Modern dancers have tripped lightly on the green, May Day processions have moved in beauty over the grass, but never has there been anything compared to the Hula-Hoop Contest sponsored by Student Government.

The contest was divided into four parts; novelty acts, "skipping the hoop", throwing the farthest, and endurance. A contestant could enter any or as many sections as she wished. Free movie passes were given for the winners in each section. Student Government members served as judges.

Clarice Gilbert and Peggy Via won the novelty act contest. Carol Dunaway won the contest for throwing the hoop the farthest and have it return. Clarice Gilbert won the contest for skipping the hoop the longest. The four finalists in the endurance test were Jane Moreland, Carol Dunaway, Clarice Gilbert and Linda Nichols.

Observing Students Win Breeze Contest

"You need hands" . . . plus sharp eyesight or a vast knowledge of anatomy to keep up with the BREEZE these days.

Winnie Lee Brown, Barbara Culler and Alice Harris accepted the challenge to "test their power of observation." They set their eyepieces on high power and suddenly Ginny Moffet's hands came into focus.

As winners in THE BREEZE contest, "Whose Hands" these girls are entitled to a free movie pass. Contact BREEZE Editor.

Mysterious "Hand" contests will appear once a month in the BREEZE, with or without coffee cup and salt shaker.

subjects, verbs, and foreign tenses.

From the professors, upper-classmen, and housemothers we received a warm welcome and ready smiles of encouragement. However, our frequent trips to the post-office bore up to the fact that home was never forgotten, and the bright spot of each day was that perhaps we'd get a letter from Harry, Louey, or Tom. If we got a little bit homesick, well, that was to be expected, wasn't it?

Yes, just three short weeks ago we began a new episode in our lives, with each of us bringing a trunk full of new ideas and high standards we're anxious to try at Madison. And now that we're here, we're staying, and we give fair warning to the upper-classmen when we "Sound-Off" that we'll be the best graduating class Madison ever had.

College Concert Choir Adds New Members

Twenty-three new members have been taken into the Madison College Concert Choir which is directed by Dr. Lester S. Bucher, head of the Music Department.

A candlelight initiation ceremony will be held for the new members who are: Jeanne Armstrong, Sue Blankenship, Elizabeth Brash, Janet Burke, Barbara Bushong, Joyce Coffman, Sally Fosnight, Lorna Prese, Rae Goodykoontz, Elizabeth Gough, Jacqueline Holst, and Shirley Horsley.

Other new members are: Jane Jones, Kay Keatley, Carolyn Miller, Nancy Minter, Virginia Newlin, Tamara Nichter, Diana Sites, Tae Smith, Martha Turner, Patricia Walker, and Ann Watkins.

Twenty new robes have been purchased for the use of the Choir.

Sport's Flash

With Ash

By this time the freshmen have not only become a part of Madison, but have started their campaign to take over the school. The Class of 1962 sure have more than their share of class spirit and school spirit. I hope that it is catching and that they will retain it.

First in the news at Madison is the result of the hockey game Saturday. Unfortunately, Madison lost. However, they are planning to get revenge on Monday, when they meet Hollins at 4:30 on the hockey field.

The trip to Massanutten was very successful. Despite the tired sore muscles, everyone seemed to have a good time. In fact, since the interest was so high, there might be another such trip in the spring. It all depends on you.

Well, were you satisfied with the result of the World Series? Due to the fact that I value my life and the opinions are not all the same, I will refuse to comment.

This Saturday night there will be a Fun Night for all those unfortunate girls who do not have a drag for the dance. This will be held after the movie and the activities will be centered in Reed pool and Ashby gym. Hope to see you all for a fun filled evening.

The A.A. elected new sport's leaders Tuesday to fill those positions vacated by those students who didn't return to Madison. They are Janet Abbot, Swimming and Water Sports; Beverly Fryer, Volleyball; Kitty Swisher, Bowling and Special Events; Pat Dean, Hockey Manager.

The Athletic Association is in charge of singspiration on the 18th of October. The program will consist of demonstrations given by the three athletic clubs and it promises to be very good.

Remember to support the intramural sport of your choice and of course the hockey team.

Presley Movies Rerun At Virginia Theatre

"I hope you won't forget me", said Elvis Presley as he embarked for Germany with the U. S. Army. This weekend the Virginia Theater will give you an opportunity to remember Elvis in his first two motion pictures, "Loving You" filmed in Technicolor and co-starring Wendel Corey and Elizabeth Scott and "Love Me Tender", co-starring Robert Ryan and Debra Paget. This double feature show will be playing Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11.

Opening Sunday, October 12, at the Virginia Theater is "Damn Yankee" co-starring Tab Hunter and Gwen Verdon. It is one of the great Broadway shows that has been made into a movie and it will also be in Technicolor. This is a wonderful musical-comedy hit that tells the story of the year the Washington Senators beat out the New York Yankees for the pennant, and it is a fine way to spend a relaxing evening.

Local Theatre Offers "The Hunters," Sunday

After one glance at the women wearing the Korean national costume for Dick Powell's Twentieth Century-Fox Cinemascope, De Luxe Color production of "The Hunters," Bob Wagner said to Bob Mitchum: "Now we know where the sack came from."

Mitchum who plays the part of a jet fighter pilot in the action film which also stars Richard Egan, May Britt and Lee Philips, replied: "Yes, unless all those women are wearing maternity dresses."

The picture opens Sunday at the State Theatre.

ENGLISH: bossy drake

THINKLISH: DUCTATOR

ENGLISH: girl who blows her stack

THINKLISH: DOLLCANO

ENGLISH: stupid monkey

THINKLISH: CHUMPANZEE

ENGLISH: man who smokes
two different brands of cigarettes

THINKLISH TRANSLATION: Obviously, this poor fellow hasn't heard about Luckies. Why? Elementary. Any man who smokes the genuine article wouldn't touch another brand with a ten-foot cigarette holder. With Luckies, you get the honest taste of fine tobacco. Why settle for less? (The man in question is a Cigamist. Don't let this happen to you!)

ENGLISH: hatchery for baby skunks

THINKLISH: STINKUBATOR

ENGLISH: false hair-do
for teen-age girls

THINKLISH: PHONYTAIL

SPEAK THINKLISH! Put in a good word and MAKE $25!

Here's the easiest way yet to make money! Just put two words together to form a new one. Example: slob+lobster=SLOBSTER. (English trans: shellfish with bad manners.) We'll pay $25 each for the hundreds of Thinklish words judged best—and we'll feature many in our college ads. Send your Thinklish words (with translations) to Lucky Strike, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Enclose your name, address, college or university, and class.
